JAPANTOWN MEMORIES

Mural Dedication
June 12, 2010

As a young boy, I have fond memories of many Japanese American businesses in Lodi, including Jack's Fruit Stand, Lodi Fish Market and Sell Rite Markets.

Descendants of the immigrants from Japan were classmates, teammates and friends. Studying the history of the people, their journeys, their labors, their removal from the area and their return, is a story of dignity, humility and perseverance.

This mural hopes to honor the history of a proud lineage of settlers to the Lodi area, here, in what was first known as "Japanese Quarter". The walls are not long enough to humbly express their contributions to the Lodi community.
